Elks, OORP celebrate 50 years

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge and Order of the Royal Purple celebrated a half century of community service on Saturday at the hall both lodges have called home for since 1967.

The afternoon started off with a variety of entertainment, including music by Darryl and Ron Fraess, a ballet number by Tamelle Pilisko and Ashley Bristow, harmonica stylings by District Deputy Bernadette Godolin and the band, violin numbers by Grade 3 student Paige Henderson, a tap dance number by Royal Purple members Brenda Diesel and Irene Pilisko and her daughter Tamelle, followed by two groups of Ukrainian dancers, performing the colourful Hopak and a lively Volyn dance.

Following some free time to visit, MC Lawrence Pidluzny enlightened the many visitors with the history of the lodge, mentioning the first slates of officers and listing many of the charter members. Two charter members from each lodge, Elks Gary Young and Ed Pankiw and OORP Ladies Lenore Bjornstad and Kay Rylance, were in attendance at the celebration, and were presented with commemorative pins later in the evening.

A solemn moment of silence was observed for the many members, both charter and those initiated in later years, who have passed away.

Following a sumptuous banquet, Honoured Royal Lady Lillian Ewasiuk and Exalted Ruler Mike Chubey extended a warm welcome to the many guests from other lodges, as well as to previous members who returned for the event.

OORP District Deputy Joyce Pareyko, Elks District Deputy Bernadette Godolin, Alberta OORP Association President Lea Dashkewtych and Alberta Elks President Larry Zeisman were all on hand to offer their congratulations, as were Supreme Honoured Royal Lady Linda Nolan of Prince George and Grand Lecturing Knight Jim McLeod of Sherwood Park, with greetings from the Supreme and Grand Lodges.

Brian Storseth re-elected with landslide

By STAFF WRITERS

Conservative candidate Brian Storseth celebrated a successful election campaign last night with supporters, joining Conservatives across the country in a majority win. Storseth was returned as MP for Westlock-St. Paul to Ottawa for a third term.

Unofficial election results available Monday night at press time showed Storseth in the lead against NDP, Green, and Liberal candidates.

As results continued to come into Election Canada on Monday, unofficial results quickly indicated a Conservative majority government, which Storseth called "a step forward for Canada," at the Conservative rallying point at the St. Paul Golf Club.

"What it shows me is that Canadians accept the job that we've been doing for the last five and half years. They've given us the stamp of approval on our economic stimulus plan and the work we've been doing to make sure that Canada comes out of this global economic recession at the top of the world."

Electoral success shows that Canadians are "not afraid of us. They know that we've got a record, they know the direction we're going to continue to move the country in."

The MP credited the Conservative Party's "open, honest, transparent record" for his and his party's success at the polls. "It's going to be a hard job for the next four years but we need to stay focused."

Storseth's electoral victory came only days after his appendix ruptured after the election forum in St. Paul on Wednesday. Storseth's wife Amel drove him to Edmonton to receive emergency surgery early Thursday morning. The re-elected MP lost four days on the campaign trail and missed a few planned events in the riding, he said.

The biggest surprise of the election was the collapse of the Bloc Québécois, he said. "I think it's great news for Canadians that we were able to get rid of a separatist entity and have stronger federalist representation across our great country."

The Bloc Québécois leader Gilles Duceppe lost his own seat to the NDP.

Liberal leader Michael Ignatieff was defeated in his own Toronto riding of Etobicoke-Lakeshore by Conservative challenger Bernard Trotter, a former St. Paul resident.

"We were pushing water uphill. We knew that at the start," said Westlock - St. Paul Liberal candidate Rob Fox.

At press time, unofficial results had the Conservatives with 165 seats, the NDP with 105, Liberals with 34, Bloc Québécois with three, and Green Party with one.

Extended Education Week at Elk Point Elementary School

By LORNE YOUNG

Principal, Elk Point Elementary School

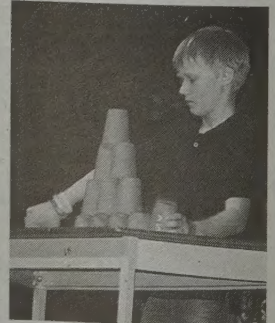

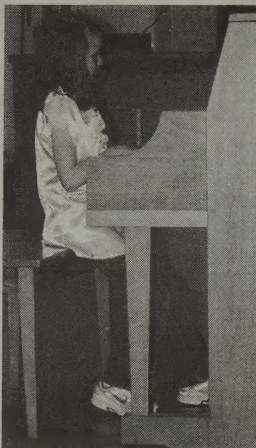

Although Education Week is officially scheduled from May 2-7, EPE has always planned a series of events that span a period of several weeks each spring.

We use these school events as celebrations. This year we are celebrating the care and humanity of our community as we fund raise for the Heart and Stroke Foundation with our annual Jump Rope for Heart event. We are celebrating our love of reading by having community leaders come into our school to read to students and share their love of reading with students. We are celebrating our love and caring for our environment by hosting two events; a school-wide "Reading in the Dark" event that combines our love of reading with our awareness of how we can each save energy, as well as our annual school grounds and community cleanup event. Finally, we are celebrating the talent of our students as we host our second annual Showcase event. Through all of these events, our students and staff are having fun as they do the great work they do every day.

Solar power switched on at council meeting

Demo gives new insight on potential walking trail lighting

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Enertia Engineering brought their light show to last Monday's town council meeting, dimming the council chamber's lights and turning on the switch to demonstrate one of their state-of-the-art solar streetlights.

The Sherwood Park company's original solar street lights were "basically built for Africa" and other hot climates, the demonstrator said, "but we went back to the drawing board" to adapt the product to colder climates, and now have six of their lights operational in Kimberley, BC and one in Round Hill, Alberta.

The lights are mounted on arms attached to custom-made poles, with a precast base and two 60-watt solar panels mounted at the top of the pole. The lights contain a bank of 32 LED bulbs with an estimated lifetime of 50,000 hours and power from the solar panel is stored in a lightweight lithium polymer battery located in the light box. The battery is "the newest in lithium technology" and is used in hybrid cars, with an estimated life of five years, he said. "We're estimating two or three." The light's operating system has a one-year warranty and the solar panels a 25-year warranty.

The simple design was created "so regular guys in Africa can do the maintenance," and there are no safety requirements or concerns.

Light from the unit is "directed where it's needed," he said, with light going downward rather than in all directions, which works with the provincial dark sky initiative. The lights can be spaced a maximum of 125 feet apart when mounted on a standard 26-foot pole. The light from these bulbs is whiter than from conventional streetlights and does not attract insects.

Council questioned the Enertia personnel on various factors of the operation, installation and costs, and felt questions had been answered to their satisfaction.

While council is currently considering the lights for the walking trail, they appear to be a viable alternative for other applications, the demonstrator noting, "For a location where it's a pain to get power to, it's a simple solution."

Mower purchase

With Mayor Parrish Tung back from a visit to Hong Kong and thanking council for sharing the extra load of duties resulting from his absence, council revisited the previous meeting's discussion on the purchase of another mower. With a price now in from a St. Paul distributor not included in the earlier discussion, council agreed to purchase the Kubota mower from the St. Paul firm.

Town announces major property tax incentives

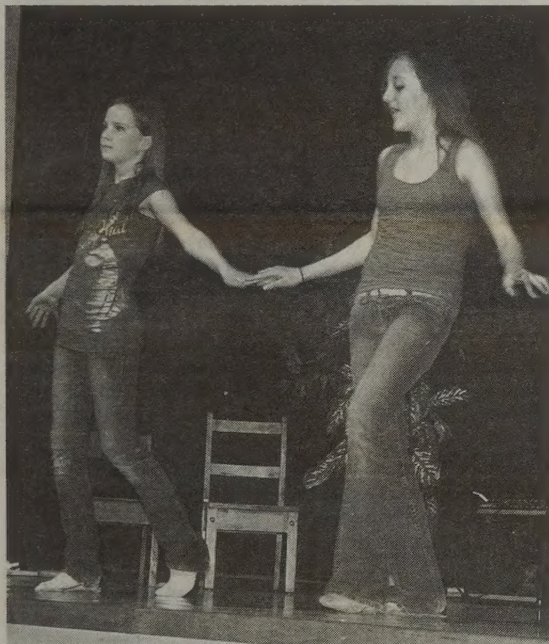

Elk Point town council has passed a motion that provides major property tax incentives on new business and residential construction. This exemption begins as of Jan. 1, 2011.

The New Business exemption provides 100 per cent relief on the municipal portion of land and buildings for each year of a three-year term. This term starts in the calendar year following the issuance of a development permit.

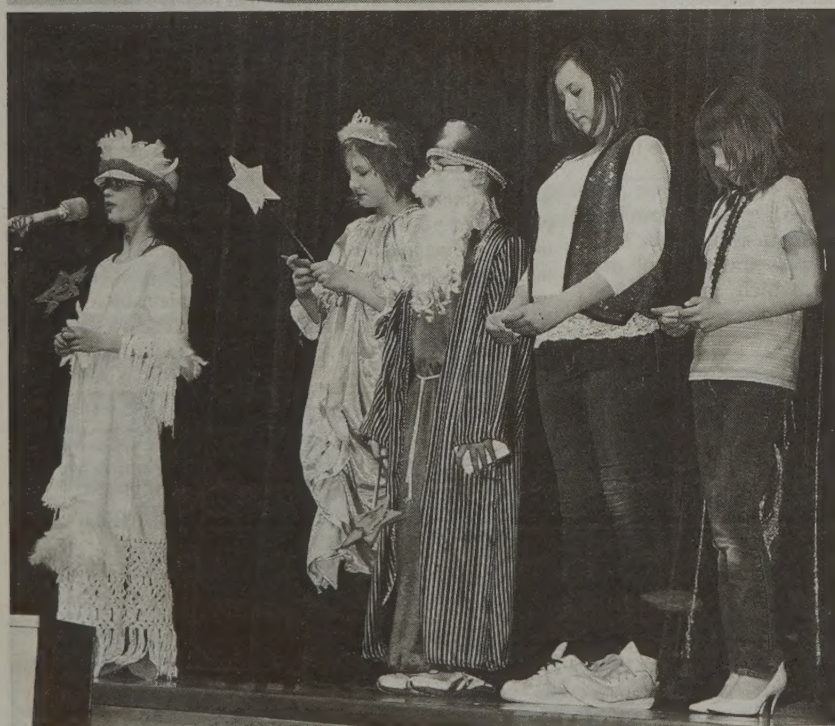

The New Residential exemption will provide a four-year tax incentive on the municipal portion of the land and building only. All principle residential properties such as new homes, duplexes, condominiums and apartment buildings shall receive an incentive as follows: 100 per cent tax exemption for the next calendar year following the issuance of a development permit, 50 per cent tax exemption on the second consecutive year, 25 per cent on the third year and 25 per cent on the fourth year.

Elk Point town council continues its strategy of assisting potential business owners who struggle with rising costs of business expansion. Residential housing also continues to be an issue for first-time homeowners with rising costs, which is another reason the Town of Elk Point has provided tax relief for residential housing.

More Showcase fun

Sixth graders Kristy Krawchuk and Taylor Pankiw did a cute and catchy modern dance routine at Friday's Elk Point Elementary School Showcase 2011.

A magic chicken, a fairy and a wizard played major roles in Friday's Readers' Theatre presentation by Hannah Ganske, Kira Brunner, Sydney Letwin, Brayden Fairbairn and Travis Scarfe.

Fresh start day

Today is the first day of a new chapter in Canada's history, as a new government takes the reins.

Canada's 41st federal election is the fourth in just under seven years, and once again the duties of the various ministers will be placed in new hands. This transition may present a steep learning curve for some of the new ministers as they adjust to their new roles.

For the government as a whole, it will also be a time of adjustment. Some of the former members of parliament will be missing, and newcomers will be making their debut on Parliament Hill, and finding out what life as a federal politician, with all the roles and responsibilities that come with the office, is all about.

We wish them a smooth transition, wise choices and informed decisions as they take their first steps into Canada's future. Our lifestyles and livelihoods will be affected by their actions, and we all hope that the changes to come will benefit us all.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Disbanded board, buxom ballerinas, license bylaw fees

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF MAY 3 IN...

1986

Alberta's Tourism Minister, the Hon. Horst Schmidt, visited Elk Point and told an audience of about 30 that tourism is important to the Alberta economy, and could prove especially valuable during the severe slowdown in the oil patch. Elk Point and District Regional Recreation and Culture Board disbanded, calling an uneasy halt to funding problems that plagued the group.

1991

Elk Point Elementary School's first principal, Florence MacDonald cut the ribbon at the official opening of the modernized and enlarged school. Amoco Canada district foreman Ron Johnson told visitors to the latest in a series of open house meetings that the number of Amoco wells in operation had dropped 25 per cent in recent months, and cuts were being made to the 1991 drilling program.

1996

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club's 17th annual spring concert was a feast for the senses, joining beautiful tradition with a comic number where two Cossacks masqueraded as a pair of buxom ballerinas. Ashley Larson topped the points race for the Junior High Point award and Marion Ryan the Senior High Point at the annual Fun and Furry Horse Show

2001

A two-day training session focused on safe school bus ridership, with Elk Point Elementary School students learning how to safely evacuate a 'disabled' school bus and how to avoid the 'danger zone' where the bus driver cannot see them. Trish Yarmuch placed first and Megan Millar second in the junior color poster category, and Brittany Buryn second in junior poem in the Zone level of Legion Poppy Contest, Trish going on to place second at District level.

2006

Elk Point's small but mighty Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club entertained a huge crowd at their 27th annual spring concert, with Marushka, the magical Ukrainian gypsy story teller, back from her travels to faraway places like Derwent and Vegreville on hand to introduce the audience to the world of Ukrainian culture, laughter and dance. Town council agreed that fees collected under Elk Point's new business license bylaw would be allocated to the Elk Point Economic Development Committee.

GUEST COLUMN

Some special gifts

This coming Sunday, May 8 is a special day. It is Mother's Day! I found a poem from a Hallmark card that says it the best way.

*"Some gifts you hold in your hand ...
Some you hold in your heart.
Mother, you've given me so much to be thankful for.*

*It's hard to know where to begin.
You gave me patience and understanding when I needed it most.
And through your wisdom and advice,
I learned lessons that will stay with me throughout my life.
But most important, you gave everything with love ...
And for that, I can't thank you enough.*

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

It is so hard to pinpoint the value of mothers. So when a Hallmark card explains that what a mother gives, she gives with love, the word love becomes the best four-letter word that explains the best gift a mother gives. Yes, a big thank you goes out to all mothers.

Have you ever wondered why and how mothers are so unique? I recently found some possible explanations as explained by Dr. John L. Lund, who is an author and lecturer on relationships and communications. He is also marriage and family counselor. To illustrate how women and men are different in how they want to receive information, he gave the following example.

"Honey, I would like to talk to you for two minutes, and it's not going to be painful" (Wait for a response.)

"Yes, what is it?"

"It would mean a lot to me if you would talk to our son, Greg. He's planning on going out tonight, and he hasn't finished his homework. Would you back me up and tell him he can't go until his homework is done?"

He goes on to say, "Without offending the entire female population, it is generally true that most women give men more information than men want to hear. It is not uncommon for the same woman to have approached her husband with the following information:"

deanna
from the FCSS desk

"Honey, I need to talk to you about Greg. I talked to his teacher this afternoon, and she is a very conscientious teacher. She really cares about the students. She gives extra credit if the students are willing to help her work on special projects after school. Anyway, she called to express concern about Greg turning in his homework. She said he is doing well on the tests and in many ways is a model student. He participates in the class discussions. Anyway, I think Greg responds to you better than me and ... and ... and ..." (the male brain has now checked out and is focusing on something else because he has no idea how long this is going to take or what she wants from him). For most men this much is information overload. The average male, even if he patiently listens to the entire female explanation, would not be able to discern what he was expected to do as a result of all the information. In all probability, the woman would not get through this entire explanation without an impatient response from her husband, which might lead to an argument between the two of them that would not focus on the original issue at all, which is about Greg getting his homework done.

Dr. Lund goes on to explain that men are brain-wired as problem solvers, and so it's difficult for them to simply listen to women. The bottom line is that our brains function differently. From recent studies it has been learned that there are significant differences in how men and women process information. Men are monotaskers; women are multitaskers. Women can process several issues at once while males have a single-task orientation. Men and women think differently. So to say it simply, women are given extra resources to help them be good mothers. In understanding and raising children, yes, mothers need to be multitaskers. Then when they use these extra resources with love, the value of that gift is un-explainable.

So mothers, you are unique and now we know why. You are special. Thank you for your gift of being you.

County welcomes their new FCSS director

By SHAUNA BURKE
Review Contributor

County of St. Paul council took a few minutes at the beginning of their meeting on April 12 to welcome Janice Fodchuk as the new FCSS director. In her introduction to council, Fodchuk said she is from Foisy, where she lives with her husband and two children. All of her work history has been in the area of social work with the Government of Alberta and as an independent businesswoman.

"I just want to say welcome on behalf of council," said Reeve Steve Upham. "We look forward to working with you."

As of May 1, the County FCSS department will see people by appointment only. They will no longer accept walk-in clients.

Road Data agreement

County council passed a motion to sign an agreement with Road Data Services Ltd. for the new permit issuing system known as TRAVIS MJ. Road Data will be the agent looking after the permits at no cost to the County and will also field requests for permits.

Road Data Services will be the primary contact for all issues relating to GIS map data, roadway validation and configuration data, roadway ownership data, permit approval conditions, rules and validation, all types of roadway restrictions, all TRAVIS MJ related entries, rules, restrictions, conditions and data, and all concerns from industry or agents related to the approval process.

Sport teams funding requests

Council passed a motion to approve a $500 grant for the Ashmont Senior High Boys Basketball team to help offset travel costs to participate in the provincial tournament.

The St. Paul Midget "A" Canadiens competed at the Provincial "B" Midget championship in Hanna on from March 25-27. Council approved a $500 grant for the Midget "A" Canadiens Hockey team to assist with travel expenses.

Historical signage

The Elk Point Historical Society has received a matching grant of $1,200 from Alberta Community Development for a permanent sign for the viewing deck at the Elk Point river campground overlooking the North Saskatchewan River. This sign would state the importance of the crossing to the Elk Point area.

Two signs will cost approximately $1,760 for materials and artwork and $440 for installation. The society would like to make two signs, one for immediate use and the other for when it has to be replaced.

Both Couns. Dwight Dach and Glen Ockerman expressed support for the project. Council passed a motion to donate $400.

Transportation grant

Council passed a motion to approve a $1,000 transportation grant to the Mallaig and District Senior Citizens Club for 2011.

They used their 2010 grant to travel to Elk Point to attend the Dinner Theatre, to Edmonton to a casino, for dining and shopping at West Edmonton Mall, to Paradise Hill and St. Walburg, Sask..

Ride to conquer cancer

Natasha Chapdelaine and Sherri Gerlinsky will be participating in the Enbridge Ride to Conquer Cancer on June 25 and 26. In order to participate in the race, they must raise $5,000 in sponsorship. All money raised goes to the Alberta Cancer Foundation. They requested funding from council.

Councillor Cliff Martin indicated that he personally had donated funds to support other riders in the division and wondered how many local riders might be taking part in the race.

Supporting an individual is different then supporting a group or an organization, noted Upham.

Council decided not to fund individuals because there may be too many registered and it might be too expensive to fund all of the participants.

Riverland Challenge

Council passed a motion to provide a $500 grant to support the fourth annual Riverland Challenge at Fort George and Buckingham House.

Mallaig fire truck

Mallaig Fire Department has retired a 1977-78 fire truck. Mallaig Museum, on behalf of community members, is now requesting that the fire truck be donated to the museum to become part of their historical collection.

Council passed a motion to approve the request.

AAMD&C

Bob Barss, president of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties (AAMD&C) and Soren Odegard for Division 5, Edmonton East visited council on April 12.

The delegates brought a draft copy of the regulations for the Lower Athabasca Regional Plan. The AAMD &C is pushing for at least five years for municipalities to bring their plans in line with the regional plans.

Both Coun. Ockerman and Reeve Upham raised concerns about the large number of water management groups and organizations there are such as Water For Life, watershed groups and water commissions.

WILD BOARS AT LARGE

INFORMATION BULLETIN

Over the past few years the Agricultural Service Boards (ASBs) and Alberta Agriculture and Rural Development (ARD) have been working cooperatively to control, with the hopes of eradicating Wild Boars at large throughout the province. When running at large, these animals pose a threat to the safety of people and property and as such have declared a pest under the Agricultural Pests Act.

The County of St. Paul No. 19 has recently entered into an Agreement with Alberta Agriculture and Rural Development whereby individuals submitting Wild Boar at large ears, will be reimbursed $50.00/pair of ears. Individuals will be required to complete a declaration before payment will be made.

Individuals wishing to participate in this program should contact local Assistant Agricultural Fieldman, Jeremy Robinson at 780-645-3006.

This program will be reviewed on an on-going basis to ensure that the program is meeting the needs of the Municipalities and is being effective in controlling the spread of Wild Boars at large.

Joyful spring concert celebrates culture

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Six groups of energetic dancers swirled, leapt and cavorted through two hours of cultural splendor on Sunday as Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club presented their annual Spring Concert to a huge and enthusiastic audience.

The senior group, Leigha Bishop, Taylor Cochrane, Elizabeth Orr, Savannah Plaska and Ashley Wozniak started off the show with the welcoming Pryvitania, and later showed their versatility with the Polissian Tanets and the Volynski Duvchata.

Intermediate dancers Morgan Baker, Kira Brunner, Madison MacDonald, Jesse Theriault, Jaden Plaska and Bryce Osinchuk performed the Volynska Polka and wound up the show with the Hopak, with Jesse, Jaden and Bryce also performing the Poltava and Jaden joining Kira in a Vesna duet.

Adults Brandi Sakowsky, Brianne Greening, Elena Drobot, Charlene Plaska, Kenna Leathem, Michelle Hillebrand, Cassandra Nelson and Karen Kendall started off with the lively steps of the Holubar and later swooped and swirled across the stage in the graceful Zirka.

Junior 1 dancers Sadie Baker, Sydnee Crawford, Macey Drobot, Kolbie Poitras, Emma Poulin, Charlie Rogal, Jorja and Josef Theriault and Mykaela Verenka displayed quick rhythm and synchronized movements of the Transcarpathian Tanets.

The Senior group celebrated the coming of May with their Polissian Tanets.

The Adult dancers light the stage like a galaxy of bright stars in the Zirka.

The beginners dance the Vesili Chas with enthusiasm and happy smiles.

"None for you, you're driving!" Anna tells Slavko as she cracks open the vodka during their roadside picnic as they travel "Back to the Homeland" in the concert's comedy feature presentation.

The Junior 1 group performs the Transcarpathian Tanets.

Junior 2 performs with energy and skill in the Kievski Hopak.

The Intermediate group dances a lively Volynska Polka.

ELK POINT COMMUNITY CHOIR SPRING CONCERT

FRIDAY, MAY 13, 2011

7:30 p.m. in the

Elk Point Arts & Leisure Centre

ADMISSION - $5.00 at the door.

No Advance Tickets Required.

Baseball season starts today!

Yes, I know, it's has been quite a while since I wrote anything about sports. The minor hockey season has been over for a month now and finding anything to write about is very difficult, especially since I needed a little break and the fact that ball and soccer season hadn't started yet.

The playoffs are well underway in the NHL, but since the Leafs and Oilers are out there hasn't been a whole lot to cheer about. I have been following and cheering for our local product Mark Letestu and the Penguins, up until they were knocked out by Tampa this past week. The "Marksman" was in the lineup every night and getting lots of playing time, I even picked him in my playoff pool, it's too bad you didn't get points for hitting posts or shots on goal, cause I think he lead the team in that department, but I also noticed he was on the ice checking the top line of the Lightning, always playing against Martin St. Louis in a defensive role. It's hard to score goals when your main role is stopping a slippery guy like him. My sources tell me we should see the "Marksman" around town sometime this week.

I also picked Sid the Kid in my draft as well, I thought the coaching staff was playing possum, but I guess not, he really is hurt. If there was any possible way he could have played, he would have, and made a big difference too, I'm sure. Guess I will donate my $100 like every other year, that's what usually happens when you choose players with your heart and not your head.

The only Canadian team left playing are the Vancouver Canucks with the twins, I have them in my draft as well, but so does ever other fool in the pool. They have their hands full with that Nashville Cat goalie guy "pick a peck a pickles" or what ever his name is, he can sure stop the puck.

Hurray, hurray the third of May, baseball season starts today. This week, weather permitting of course, cause we don't have the dome yet, the ball season will start with the pee-wee girls playing at home tomorrow night and on Thursday all three diamonds will be busy with the rookie boys, mosquitoes boys and pee-wee boys all playing their season opener at home, game time is 6:30. Get off the couch, the Oilers are out, and watch some ball!!!!

The boys of summer are back! The Midget Sox, last year's tier one silver medal winners will open up their 16th season playing three games in Edmonton at Confederation Park, by Southgate mall, the first on Saturday at noon against the Sherwood Park Athletics, Sunday at nine against the East Park Orioles and Sunday at 3 p.m. against the Fort Saskatchewan Red Sox. This year the Sox have six returning players off of last year's tier one silver medal team along with the signing of some other very talented ball players that the management scouted and added to the roster.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week. "They give you a round bat and they throw you a round ball. And then they tell you to hit it square." Last week's answer to: "In the beginning there was a word, and the word was "Play Ball" - George Bowering, writer. Do you have a sports scoop? Please email them to sportshound007@hotmail.com

Both McLeod and SHRL Nolan had words of praise and encouragement for the local lodges.

"Your contribution to the society makes this community a better place to live," SHRL Nolan said. She was pleased to announce that local member Verna Lazicki had won the draw in the OORP Membership Challenge and had won the opportunity to attend the national convention in Gander, NL this summer along with the new member, Marilyn Bosvik, who she brought into the lodge, along with Rubyann Kittlitz. Lazicki is unable to attend the convention, and has turned over her portion of the trip to Kittlitz.

SHRL Nolan presented HRL Ewasiuk with a ceremonial gavel in honour of the anniversary.

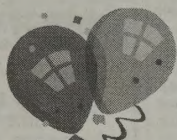

"Those in the order and in the community are fortunate to have you as members," GLK McLeod told the Elks. "This lodge would not be celebrating this anniversary if it were not for you and those members who preceded you." To both lodges, he said, "Your lodges have a long and distinguished history, you were there working together and making a difference."

Representatives of visiting lodges from Vegreville, Myrnam, Hairy Hill, Lac La Biche, St. Paul and Lloydminster, along with the St. Paul Royal Canadian Legion and the Alberta 55+ seniors group also brought greetings and congratulations on the lodges' milestone.

County council

"There seems to be nobody with their hand on the wheel provincially," said Upham. "Everybody is flying off in different directions with these commissions... There is going to be duplication and wasted money if there is no leadership."

Coun. Frank Sloan noted that there are several possible sources of water, the proposed Cold Lake pipeline, the Highway 28 pipeline, the Beverly Channel and the North Saskatchewan River, and it is hard to make a decision about what is best without knowing what the neighbouring counties are doing.

Barss agreed that similar issues are happening through out the province and noted that perhaps it is something the organization should discuss with the province.

Council also raised concerns about the cost of the legal challenges that have happened during elections in the County. One concern was regarding residency and the other was about nomination issues.

Barss said that the Elections Act is up for review and recommended the County put forward its concerns, in particular the most recent issue where County felt that there was confusion about the wording in the Elections Act.

Coun. Maxine Fodness asked if the province signed an agreement with the RCMP yet. Barss confirmed that a 20-year contract has been signed.

"They were the first of all the provinces in Canada to sign," said Barss. Currently the funding arrangement has not changed. He said the AAMD&C needs to continue to be a part of the ongoing discussions regarding funding formula for the RCMP.

Spring Concert

Junior II dancers Abby Baker, Katelyn and Christopher Boratynec, Paige and Sam Henderson, Mickal Pilisko, Sharmayne Pilisko, Kaylee Poitras, Hank Rogal and Ty Smereka danced the Kievski Hopak just prior to the intermission.

Beginners Shaylyn Klatt, Sam Rogal, Dae Smereka, Ivy Smereka, Lauren Smith, Rylee Verenka and Brittney Walton delighted the audience with their bright smiles and jovial movements in the lively Veseli Chas.

Five groups combined their talents in this year's story presentation, with instructor Debbie Kachmar Potter starring as Anna and Bryce Osinchuk as Slavko, two Canadian Ukrainians who fly to the homeland to visit relatives and meet people from each region of the Ukraine as they drive a smoking, rattletrap car across the country. The Beginners flapped and clucked through a Chicken Dance, Junior II did the Hutzulka, the Seniors the Transcathian Tanets and Junior I the Harvest Dance to entertain the travelers and the Intermediates and Seniors joined Anna and Slavko in a joyful Kolomyka when they finally reached their destination.

Airport authority

A new airport authority bylaw was given all three readings. The new bylaw basically replaces former wording that referred to the body as an airport commission. With the bylaw now passed, documentation will be changed to reflect the new title, including the operating agreement with the county. The province had already referred to the body as an airport authority.

Municipal excellence

Town manager Myron Goyan was directed to prepare a submission for the Minister's Awards for Municipal Excellence.

Rec park storage

The option of adding on to the washroom and storage facility at the Elk Point Recreation Park at the same time that damage caused by a vehicle collision is repaired was brought to council and discussed at some length.

EDC recommendations

A series of recommendations from the economic development committee involving abandoned buildings, downtown core beautification and development of lots was discussed, but deemed worthy of a meeting just to discuss these items, and one to which the EDC would be invited to clarify various items on the list. Council set Monday, May 16 for this meeting.

2011 Budget

Council agreed to pass their operating budget, but deferred the capital budget and setting of the mill rate until the next meeting. One very important item on the capital list took a step forward, however, when council approved a motion to move to the design stage of the urgently needed sewage lagoon upgrade. Goyan can now prepare the necessary grant application for that project.

Soccer up and running

There are two teams each at the U4, U6 and U8 levels, and on U10 team, all eager to take part in a season that will run until mid-June, against teams from other area communities such as Myrnam, Two Hills, Clandonald and Mannville. The Elk Point Soccer Club is also planning to host a tournament.
